

BY THE TIME YOU KNOW WHAT IT IS,
IT COULD BE SOMETHING ELSE.

AVALANCHE  LIKE A ROCK

THE ULTIMATE ULTIMATE UTILITY VEHICLE IS COMING*

Forget about everything that's been called a UUV, SUT or hybrid up to now. Nothing is like the Avalanche. This is the only known vehicle on the planet that can change from a 6-passenger SUV to a pickup with an 8-foot cargo box in just seconds. You can do this by yourself, without tools, anytime, anywhere. There can be only one Ultimate Utility Vehicle. It's coming in early 2001.

The rear window can be left in place with the Midgate down. With the cargo cover locked you get protected and lighted space from dashboard to tailgate. There are also lighted Top-Box Storage compartments on either side of the cargo box that allow you to keep smaller gear locked up and safe. All in a vehicle shorter than the Ford Super Crew. Can other so-called Ultimate Utility Vehicles do all this? You'll find that the Avalanche is the only real Ultimate Utility Vehicle. And it's coming in early 2001. For more information, visit chevrolet.com/avalanche or call 1-877-SNOWPEAK.

The Avalanche is the only known vehicle on the planet with anything like the Convert-a-Cab System. The rear 60/40 seats fold flat, but that's just the start. The real heart of the Convert-a-Cab System is the new Midgate. When the Midgate is up it constitutes the rear wall of the cab, including the rear window. When the Midgate is down and the rear window is removed and stowed, it serves as an extension of the cargo box. You can carry everything from full 4'x8' sheets of plywood, to an appliance, to various dirt bikes – perfect for those days when you have to drop off some lumber then pick up a new washing machine on your way to Moab. All parts, from the removable Midgate window to the rigid 3-piece cargo cover, are stowed securely onboard the Avalanche so you can make changes at will, en route.
